MONK PAYS VETS TRIBUTE HERE IN DEDICATION TALK

Memorial Parade Ended at Steps of Convention Hall.

McCORMICK IS SPEAKER

All Organizations of City Take Part in Memorial Parade Here.

Through the rows of silent hundreds who lined the business streets of the city, passed the Memorial parade in tribute to those who paid the extreme sacrifice during the world war and in commemoration of the dedication of the Memorial Convention hall.

Every civic club of Ada, boy scouts, legion members and military units of the National Guards constituted the line of march that passed from the College building at the end of East Main street to the steps of the Memorial Convention hall, where dedication services were held.

The parade headed down Main street shortly after 2 o'clock with the Norman Howard post drum corp leading the march behind the colors. The members of the drum corps, dressed in white trousers and shirts and straw hats presented a striking appearance at the head of the Memorial march.

The 160 F. A. band followed the drum corp in the march. The artillery band was ordered here from Holdenville for special detachment for the memorial services here. Boy Scouts, city officials, Confederate veterans, Legion members, Knights of Pythias, Lions club and other civic club members following in the parade. The 160th F. A. (mounted) was also in the line of march.

Captain Robert S. Kerr, Oklahoma National Guards and prominent Legionnaire, with Captain A. M. Crow, commander of the William Byrd camp, Confederate veterans were officers of the day.

Services at Memorial Hall.

The parade ended its march at the steps of the Memorial Convention Hall, where legion officials, speakers of the day and Gold Star mothers occupied the rostrum during the services.

Following the address of Dudley C. Monk, state commander of the American Legion, Elbert Reed, commander of the Norman Howard post, American Legion, fitted the cornerstone in place and thereby completed the dedication of the Memorial hall, which will stand in years to come as a tribute to those who died and served in the World War.

Commander Monk delivered the principal address of the dedication. He was preceded by Lowrey H. Harrell, local attorney and Legionnaire, who delivered the introductory address. Major McCormick, commanding officer of the National Guard units in this district delivered a short address on the foundation of the American Legion, Major McCormick having been a charter member of the organization in Paris.

The address of the day was delivered by Dudley C. Monk, state commander of the American Legion. Monk, in accepting the invitation to be a speaker for the dedication services here paid his tribute to the local post. Commander Monk is known throughout the southwest for his activities in the interest of the American Legion.

Following is the address of Commander Monk:

America has left its home today to walk for awhile in its Temple of Memories.

And what a marvelous edifice it is—towering above a war-torn world, lifting its white walls to the blue dome of eternity, spreading its spacious corridors over a continent, and bearing legend upon its cornerstone of four hundred years and more.

Centuries have watched over its building: every stone in its deep, broad foundation is mortared with the blood of patriots; every block in its majestic walls has carven on it a deed of unselfish heroism, and every jewelled shaft of light that springs from its polished columns, tells of a mother's tears, shed in proud sorrow and courageous sacrifice. It is not an empty shell; but the living, breathing body of our Nation, in which we live, as does the blood within our body, a torrent of cells that of themselves come into being, live and die, and in their living lend their force of life to the body's weal or woe; suffering our ills of mind and heart, and reflecting these ills in the nation's mind and heart; enjoying our health and reflecting that health in the nations contentment and prosperity. Here, today, gone tomorrow; but leaving upon the frame of the nation our stamp, as the blood cell leaves upon our body its irrevocable mark. Changing, struggling, walled in by destiny, yet masters of that destiny.

NATION PAYS ITS TRIBUTE TO DEAD

Harding Principal Speaker at Memorial Day Services at Arlington.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 30.—As the principal speaker at the Memorial Day exercises at the Arlington national cemetery, President Harding led the nation today in paying tribute to dead heroes of its wars.

The ceremonies in the memorial amphitheatre at Arlington with the national officers of the G. A. R. and the American Legion participating and other patriotic organizations represented, formed the principal features of the capital observance of the day. A parade of members of the several organizations, reviewed by the president from the White House, proceeded to the amphitheatre exercises. Other speakers there included James Willet, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. and Watson B. Miller, national vice-commander of the American Legion. The dedication by Mrs. Harding of an elm tree to the world war dead was also in the day's program. The site of the tree is about 100 yards from the tomb of the unknown soldier.

In the principal address of the American Legion memorial services at Arlington, Acting Secretary Dwight Davis of the war department declared that the Legion "must demand that never again shall American boys be sacrificed as many of these, our comrades, were sacrificed because we forgot the lessons of the past."

Notice.

M. W. A. will meet tonight in their hall in the Ada Business College at 8 o'clock. There is some very important business and a class to initiate so be sure and come prompt. Visitors are especially invited. C. A. CUMMINS, Clerk

To those few who hoped that schools might be run without restrictions, the statement of A. Linscheid, president of the East Central college, will sound the death knell on mid-summer madness.

Dr. Linscheid, backed by the restrictions outlined by the State Board of Education, has issued a set of rules to be followed out by those who room students attending the East Central State Teachers college.

The following rules are applicable to those attending the summer session:

Under the regulations of the State Board of Education it is not permissible for men and women to room at the same house, whether this be a private home or a rooming house. This is not a reflection upon anyone, but it is a requirement that experience has shown to be wholesome in all College towns.

The only exception to the foregoing rule is in the case of married couples staying together at the same place. Students who violate this rule lay themselves liable to suspension, and place their credits in jeopardy. We shall appreciate it if you will co-operate with us in enforcing this rule.

Young ladies are not expected to have "dates" except at week-ends, that is to say, Friday, Saturday or Sunday evenings.

Students should not keep late hours. There is no reason why students should not be in their rooms and at work not later than 9:30 o'clock, except at week-ends, and they should be in then at a reasonable time.

Any improper conduct on the part of young ladies should be reported to Mrs. Ina Mackin, Adviser of Women, who may be reached at telephone 92 or 223.

Improper conduct on the part of men attending the college should be brought to the attention of President Linscheid.

W. O. Pratt came in Sunday for a few days visit with home folks. He has been out on a six weeks tour over the state as State organizer for the National Guard.—Roff Eagle.

CLOSE FRIEND OF HARDING SHOOTS SELF AT CAPITAL

Jesse W. Smith Takes Own Life in Apartments of Attorney General.

DAUGHERTY'S FRIEND

No Reason Reached for Suicide of Prominent Republican Campaign Worker.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 30.—Jesse W. Smith of Washington Court House, Ohio, prominent in Republican party affairs in that state, shot himself to death in his apartments at a hotel here today.

Mr. Smith was a life long friend of Attorney General Daugherty. He was a member of the party that accompanied President Harding to Florida, remaining with the attorney general after the return of the president to Washington.

Mr. Smith was living in the apartment of Mr. Daugherty here, the latter being a guest at the White House. Friends were unable to assign a reason for his act, declaring that he had been in apparent good health and spirits.

Warren Martin, special assistant attorney general, who was occupying the apartment with Mr. Smith, was asleep in another room at the time of the shooting. He was awakened by the report of the pistol about dawn but was unable to render assistance at the time.

Mr. Smith played golf yesterday with the attorney general, Mr. Martin and Lieut. Com. Boone, naval aid attached to the White House and complained afterwards of being unusually tired.

Mr. Smith was 51 years old. For a number of years he had been regarded as the right hand man of Attorney General Daugherty in Ohio politics. He took a prominent part in the pre-convention campaign of four years ago which resulted in the nomination of President Harding. Since that time he had been a constant companion of the attorney general.

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio, May 30.—Jesse Smith of this city who shot and killed himself today in his Washington hotel, formerly was Exalted Ruler of the Ohio Elks and was a close personal friend of President Harding and Attorney General Daugherty.

For years he operated a department store here but sold out six months ago. During the Harding campaign Mr. Smith took an important part, doing considerable "missionary" work for the Republican forces. He never aspired to public office, but when Harry M. Daugherty was made attorney general Mr. Smith went to Washington receiving an appointment in the department of justice.

Officer Killed as Attempt is Made to Take Desperado

(By the Associated Press)

TORONTO, May 30.—Sergt. J. Unquart of the provincial police was shot to death at North Bay when he with a posse started to enter the home of the father of Leo Rogers, the hunted desperado, after having seen a man slip into the building last night. After killing the sergeant on the door step Rogers broke through the posse and escaped. Police are convinced that it was the desperado they have trailed through the wilderness since two weeks ago when with a card board gun he escaped from the prisoner's dock in court, later killing one constable and wounding another.

In Flanders Field

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard admist the guns below.
We are the dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, and now we lie
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from falling hands we throw
The torch. Be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

Silent Men

In the City of Tombs, north of Ada, scattered graves bore proudly the touch of patriotism and bedecked in floral wreaths, again bloomed in the memory of their Day, Memorial Day, to which Ada paid tribute.

Tender hands lingered in the strewing of flowers over the graves of veterans, who paid the extreme sacrifice for the cause of principals cherished in war.

Gray-haired veterans of wars of years gone past watched on with memories of the sacrifice of those gone on, as representatives of the coming generation, the boy scouts, performed the duty of tribute to their fallen comrades.

Confederate veterans visited again the resting place of a comrade who died in service, shed a tear and placed a floral tribute on the grave of one of those held dear in memory.

World war veterans, now in the flower of manhood, looked on as a tribute was paid to comrades who had relinquished claims on youth and life for the cause for which they also fought.

In a section of the City of Silent Men, a well-kept plot, stood out with no martyred hero to accept of its shrine and this the Legion plot, dedicated to the permanent resting place of any buddy who might be saved from the potters field because of no familiy ties to claim his companionship in death. The Norman Howard post, American Legion will keep this hallowed ground to serve its purpose if the occasion ever comes.

When the sexton made his rounds after all had left, the "rest camp" of veterans had been left again in the lap of floral tribute on another Memorial Day.

Kitchin's Condition Unchanged.

WILSON, N. C., May 30.—The condition of Representative Claude Kitchin, former Democratic leader of the house, whose death physicians said last night was only a matter of a few hours, was reported unchanged at 8:30 this morning at the hospital here where he is ill.

Two Serious Accidents Result of 500-Mile Classic.

(By the Associated Press)

SPEEDWAY, Indianapolis; May 30.—With the half way mark reached in the 500 mile automobile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway today, Tommy Milton, winner of the 1921 race, was leading with Harry Hartz of Los Angeles second and Christian Werner, a German entrant third. Time was 2:30:3684 average 93.98 miles per hour.

Two serious accidents occurred up to this time. One resulted in the serious injury of Tom Alley, veteran racer, whose car crashed into the fence, injuring three school boys from Lafayette, Indiana. Alley suffered a fracture of the left arm and possibly a fractured skull. Bert Shoup, one of the spectators injured, suffered a skull fracture at the base of the brain. Alley was driving as relief for Earl Cooper.

SPEEDWAY, Indianapolis, May 30.—With a roar from perfectly tuned motors, 24 premier racers of five nations shot away at 10 o'clock today, starting on the 500 mile automobile race over the two and one-half mile brick course of the Indianapolis motor speedway.

The attendance at the start of the race was officially announced s more than 135,000, making it the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a sporting event in America. The race was run under delightful conditions with a bright sun accompanied by a cooling breeze which swept down the course.

Jimmy Murphy winner of the 1922 race, grabbed the lead, covering the first two and one-half miles at an average speed of 97.44 per hour. Tommy Milton, another of the favorites captured the lead in the third lap. Christian Laugenschlager, the German entrant, was the only driver in the race carrying a mechanician.

The first car forced out of the race was a French creation driven by Martin de Alzagar of Argentine. De Alzagar had covered 15 miles at terrific speed when the breaking of a connecting rod sent him to the pit.

While speeding at nearly 100 miles per hour the car driven by Laugenschlager, the German racer, crashed into a concrete retaining wall on the south turn of the track, wrecking the machine. Laugenschlager escaped with only a few

RECORD SUMMER SESSION STARTS WORK FOR TERM

Record Enrolment in East Central Despite Setback at Opening.

REGULARITY ASSUMED

Recreational Program to be Launched for Entertainment of Students.

That the summer term at the college has begun satisfactorily is the statement of President Linscheid. The enrolment has been heavier than ever before and the students are of more mature ability on the average than in the past. Mr. Linscheid's statement is as follows:

At the close of the second day of the summer term the enrolment had reached the same point that it reached at the conclusion of the summer term last year, which was in every respect the record breaker so far as this institution is concerned. It is, therefore, conservative to say that the enrolment thus far is very satisfactory. Students are still dropping in, and will continue to do so until next Monday. However, the increase from now until the close of the summer term will not be very great.

One of the characteristics of the student body is that each succeeding year finds a greater percentage of mature students, that is to say, those who are taking Senior College work. The number of people who have received life certificates from this and other institutions and will continue to work towards bachelors degrees is far larger than ever before, and the purpose of those who are taking preparatory work is smaller. In fact, there are practically no high school students of high school age and grade in this institution. Those who are taking preparatory work are in almost every instance, teachers from rural communities who have not had the opportunity to complete their high school work before they begin teaching.

Heavier demands are made on the training school than ever before. In all probability the work will have to be reorganized so as to have six critic teachers in charge instead of four as heretofore. At the present time one hundred thirty-eight students are taking practice teaching in the training school. This is at least an increase of forty percent over that of last year. The heaviest enrolment is to be found in the following departments: English, history, education, psychology. Some of the classes in each of these departments have reached an enrolment of one hundred, and the office force is busy at the present time dividing these into two or three sections. Just as soon as the proper adjustments are made no instructor will be called upon to teach more than thirty or forty students in any one class. A sufficient number of instructors has been provided to take care of all these students. It is a matter now of adjustment, and it will take a day or two to bring this about.

Students Down to Study.

Never before in the history of the school has the third day of the term found classes moving with so great a degree of regularity, as at present. This is due to the fact that most of the enrolment was completed last week before the new term was scheduled to begin.

Just at present the faculty is planning a mixer to be given here next week for the purpose of making students acquainted with one another, and with the faculty.

Tomorrow at nine o'clock the first general assembly will be held. The purpose of this is to permit the ministers of the various denominations to make their announcements.

The first lectures of the new term will be delivered by Dr. Charles McKinney of Ypsilanti, Michigan, who is to be here June 6th and 7th; and next week closes with a high class concert given by Jessie Isabel Christian, famous grand opera star, who will be here next Friday evening. Students will be admitted to this entertainment upon presentation of their incidental fee receipts.

The big Chautauqua which is given free to students will begin June 14th. Other recreational features will be announced from time to time.

New Class to Open.

Beginning Monday, June 4th, there will be a class in Current Educational Problems which is open to mature students, principals and superintendents. This class will meet at two o'clock, and will not interfere with the schedule of any student enrolled. It will be designed to give instruction with reference to organization and management of town and city school systems. Superintendents Reeves, Faust, Hefley, Lever, Hickman and President McCool of the Murray School of Agriculture, will conduct this class.

When it is borne in mind that the last ten days have been extremely discouraging from an eco-

Legion Leaders Pave Way For Success

The peak of progress has been realized in the Norman Howard post, American Legion during the present year under the administration of Elbert Reed, commander, and Clint Miers, adjutant.

During the period of their active leadership the post has expanded to its largest medium of service to veterans of the World war, an organization with the best interest of the public at heart and an order of the state legion that has been favored with the commendable support over the state.

During the present administration, the most trying period of the post existence has been weathered and the upgrade toward success been realized through the efforts of the members and the leadership of the post officers.

Today, as the Memorial hall is presented to those who served and died in the World war, the Norman Howard post, American Legion will have laid a stepping stone to proper compensation for the sacrifices of veterans and establishing a convincing contention that the ex-service man can be benefited only through his membership in the American Legion, the official organization representing the veterans.

To Furnish Memorial Hall

The dedicatoin of the Memorial hall today marks the beginning of the legion plans for the proper furnishing of their permanent quarters. Post officers have placed a great part of their time to the working out of plans for the raising of $3,000 for the purchase of furniture for legion quarters. Post officer, in their effort to establish a legion home that will be a credit to the post in years to come, seek the cooperation of every ex-service man in the county.

The present administration has stepped out into wider fields to conquer and during their period in office have placed the Ada post in high standing with the state organization with prospects of commanding even more attention in the last months of the year.

Clint Miers

Drum Corps Important Step

The formation of the drum corps was one of the outstanding features of the year's program. The organization of a drum corps has long been an attractive proposition for the local post members but it was not until early in the present administration that action was taken and the drums purchased by post members.

The post drum corps meetings in regular practise twice each week, and through consistent practice has prepared themselves a noise-makers for conventions, here, in the state or at national conventions.

The post is making an effort to secure the support of state officials in naming it a state organization with its services available at state and national conventions or any other occasions appropriate.

MONK PAYS VETS TRIBUTE HERE

Given life and liberty and charged with pursuit of happiness, we find that to live, be free and have happiness, is to let the Nation live, be free and share our happiness. And so our coming to this Temple of Memories is not a voyage but a home-coming. A day of introspection and self appraisal; a return to consciousness, from lethargy; a reawakening and a realization. We are today not merely atoms in the Universe, We are Americans, and we thank God for the lineage that permits us to here review the glorious traditions of America, the glorious traditions of America, the glorious deeds of Americans, and to say with pride and reverence. "They were our Fathers and Mothers", and in the hearts of each of us, there is crying out, The Spirit of America:

I am the Spirit of America.

I blazed the virgin forest, and it gave me shelter.

I felt the yoke of oppression, and cast it off.

I fixed in the heavens a new Star of Freedom as a guide to the Cradle of Liberty.

I gathered up the precious gems of Justice, Freedom and Democracy, and built a Temple of Constitutional Government, alike for weak and strong, rich and poor, hale and halt.

I stood fast in the blinding storm of civil strife and emerged an indissoluble Union.

I found a people cursed by the tyranny of Spain and released them from their bondage.

I strode forth, a Crusader in the cause of Democracy, to stay the course of a blood mad military autocracy, and, as Victor, turned my back on spoils.

I live, am free, pursue my happiness and thus secure the public weal.

I dwell also in the breast of him who comes even from foreign shores to worship at this Shrine of Liberty, and to pay tribute to these traditions, and to aid in our development and support our institutions and obey our laws.

I am a blazing avenging flame in whose wrath will perish those who seek our shores to undermine our institutions, violate our laws, and spread the curse of Anarchy.

I see the golden sunlight of the fairest land in God's realm, fall upon the fairest banner of Christendom, and my heart swells with love, my lips cry allegiance, and my soul fills with reverence in the memory of those immortal dead to whom Liberty was dearer than life, and whose sacrifice has left this priceless heritage—A Free Democracy.

I am the Spirit of America—I am personified in an American.

America comes here today to live again those days of devotion and sacrifice; to follow down the corridors of time the story of courage and pariotism which is woven into the epic of American Liberty; to re-acknowledge our debt of gratitude and to renew our pledge to preserve and transmit to posterity, the principles of justice, freedom and democracy.

Forgetfulness. It is the slinking, eating rust that first mars the Nation's sword, then snaps it.

Memory. It is the fine protecting oil that drives back rust, and leaves a flashing polished blade. Quick for its country's honor.

There was deep prophecy in these beautiful words of Lincoln, uttered in his inaugural address in 1861:

"The mystic chords of memory stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union, when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our Nature."

From all the earth where have fallen the brave of America, have stretched these mystic chords of memory, and we have come here as Lincoln said we would to swell the chorus of the Union, by touching them with the better angels of our nature.

A beautiful custom calls us here today, to commemorate the loyalty and devotion of those who have given their lives that Justice, Freedom and Democracy might be the heritage of posterity.

The observance of Memorial, or Decoration Day, began soon after the Civil War. It was originally a tribute to the soldiers and sailors who fell in that conflict. Gradually it has expanded, until now this day has become the day of commemoration for all who have fallen in defense of our country from Lexington to Sedan.

This is as it should be. There can be but one altar of patriotism, and at that altar we may all worship Here we may invoke the spiritual guidance of the father of our Country, and here we may do reverence to those immortal patriots who have given final proof of their love of country.

It is said that we shall come here to garland these graves with flowers. Does it not seem, rather that we come here to be garlanded by the precious memories of their unselfishness, courage and devotion. These flowers which we place here with tenderness and love, are transient things. They are indeed poor symbols of the constant image which we carry in our hearts. These petals will droop and wither, but the thought, for what they are the symbol, is ever fresh in our minds. That it is to these, our honored dead, that we owe our lives, our liberty, and the right to call our shelter, Home. Each day we cherish this thought, and these flowers, which once each year we come to place upon these graves, are but the summing up of countless tributes paid unseen, paid unheard.

Nor is this all. The skies have smiled o'er these heroic mounds, and the tiny points of grass have thrust their heads from darkness into light, and there have felt the rain god's tears. And thus has grown through sunshine and showers their carpet of green woven on the loom of heaven, upon which the gentle hued blossoms have crept unbidden to bloom their lives away within this hallowed place. Every day does nature garland these graves. We assemble here but once each year, Nature comes every day.

Five years ago today, a threatening cloud overhung the face of civilization, obscuring the sun of justice and threatening the very life of liberty and justice. The ruthless thrust of the mightiest military machine ever formed for the hands of a war maddened military aristocracy, had swept the resistance of desperation almost to its threshold. With its goal in sight, this blood drunken giant paused to gloat before its last find would engulf the last obstacle.

Then, on this day, Five years ago, a division of Americans was called from its training, to offer battle, to oppose right to might. That division struck and staggered the foe. Then came other American divisions, and struck again and again, and until the beast reeled, turned and then precipitately fled. The wedge of Cantigny became the thrust of Belleau Wood, and Chateau Thierry, and the Flaming Sword of the Meuse Argonne. No host could check them, no flame could turn them, no destruction annihilate their spirit and triumphant course. Theirs was the Spirit of America, indomitable, unconquerable, imperishable.

The cost of Liberty is Sacrifice, and the reward of Sacrifice is the thanksgiving of posterity.

Our heroic dead have left us, their memories as shrines, at which to worship and become purified of the dross of life; not distant shrines, whereto we shall pilgrimage seldom in our lifetimes; but Shrines within our very hearts, to which we shall repair daily to offer reverence and receive comfort and courage.

Let us look, each within his own heart, to see that the celestial spark of high purpose and firm resolve is yet alive, and that there is an abundance of its sustaining fuel—constant love and devotion to the memories of those whose lives were pledged to Freedom.

Their Spirit lives with us, shall live with Posterity, and is Imperishable. It is the flame in the Torch of Liberty."

"The shouting and the tumult dies
The captain and the kings depart,
Still stands thine ancient sacrifice
And humble every contrite heart.
Lord God of Hosts be with us yet,
Lest we forget! Lest we forget!

Commander Monk praised the community spirit prevalent, insisting that the beautiful dedication offered by the citizens of Ada indicated that they had not forgotten.

Chaplain Charles Widney closed the dedication with prayer.

Electric Lines to Receive Big Improvement Lump

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 30.—Electric railways in the United States will spend the enormous sum of $240,000,000 for equipment and plant facilities during 1923, according to a survey of expansion programs just announced by the Illinois Commission on Public Utilities.

This will be an addition to the large normal expenditures which must always be made for materials and supplies necessary to the continuous operation of city and interurban lines.

These proposed expenditures are about 60 percent greater than those of 1922, the commission's statement says, the 1922 expenditures totalling $151,000,000.

scratches. He was on his thirty-eighth mile when the accident occurred. Jacob Krauss, mechanician of the German driver, at first thought only badly shaken up, later was rushed to the hospital, presumably suffering from internal injuries.

The second Argentine driver forced out was Rauol Riginti who quit after covering 47 miles because of a broken gas tank. This eliminated the two South American entrants, both of whom were driving French cars.

The first 50 miles were covered at an average of 96.61 miles an hour with Murphy leading. Milton was second and Howard Wilcox third. Milton with his singing motor was in the lead at 100 miles with Wilcox second and Murphy third. The century mark was reeled off at an average of 96.43 miles per hour.

Tom Alley probably was injured when his car crashed through the fence on the back stretch injuring Charles Elliott of Lafayete, Indiana, a spectator. Alley was driving as relief for Earl Cooper at the time of the accident. Alley and Elliott were rushed to the hospital.

MISSIONARY STICKS TO DANGEROUS POST

SYDNEY, N. S. W.—The story of the zeal of a lone missionary on one of the uncivilized islands of the Solomon group, who was rescued from the hands of head-hunters, but refused to be taken away from his chosen station, has just been brought to Sydney by an island schooner. Men aboard the schooner ,nearing the island, saw a number of natives in war paint dancing around a blazing fire, according to their story.

The captain, believing that some person might be in danger, armed the crew and sent them ashore. They fired a volley over the heads of the natives who ran into the bush. The crew investigated a European-built house and found a white man inside, praying on his knees. He said that he was a missionary and had been on the island for a year. Sickness had broken out among the natives and he had been blamed for the loss of life. The natives had sent their women-folk into the bush and started a war dance. As that was a sign of future trouble, he had locked himself in the house.

The missionary was importuned to abandon his idea of staying among the natives, and invited to come aboard the vessel for safety. He refused, however, and the ship sailed away, leaving him at his lonely and dangerous post.

Farmers' Column

—By—
Byron Norrell

I notice quite a bit being said in some papers about the effectiveness of bright lights in the cotton fields for attracting boll weevils at night to pans of oil or water prepared for their reception when they begin buzzing about the lights. Some weeks ago Dr. School, entymologist at the A. & M. College, who spent many years studying the boll weevil in Texas, stated that a concern is preparing to put these lamps on the market this year and warned the farmers that they are practically useless for the simple reason that boll weevils do very little flying until late in the summer when they take their annual flight preparatory to going into winter quarters. A bulletin issued by the federal board of agriculture recommended the calcium arsenate dusting method wherever practicable and also says that the molasses and arsenate mixture is worth experimenting with further as its results have not been fully demonstrated.

Feeding Dairy Cows,

By A. C. Baer,
Professor of Dairying, A. and M. College.

The requirements of a good dairy ration are: 1, It must be balanced. 2, It should be palatable. 3, It must be laxative. 4, It should be sufficiently gulky. 5, It should contain a variety of feeds. 6, It must be adapted for milk production. 7, it should be of lowest possible cost.

In order to feed cows economically it is essential that the roughage be produced on the farm. Home grown feeds cost less than if purchased. Many farms can also produce some grain feeds.

A good cow will require the following feed for a year:

Roughage—4 tons silage, 1 1-2 tons legume hay—alfalfa, cowpeas or peanuts; 1 ton sudan, sorghum or kafir, fed green when pastures are dry or an extra ton of silage provided for the dry season; 1 acre wheat, oats or rye, for winter pasture.

Grain Ration—700 pounds corn, kafir or barley chop; 400 pounds cottonseed meal or peanut meal; 200 pounds wheat bran. (Some ground oats can be substituted if desired or the amount of bran increased, depending upon the roughage available.)

Heavy milk producers may need some grain even when on a good grass pasture. A Jersey cow giving the following amounts of milk per day can profitably be fed grain as indicated: 20 pounds milk, 3 pounds grain; 30 pounds milk, 5 1-2 pounds grain; 40 pounds milk, 8 pounds grain. Holstein cows: 25 pounds milk, 3 pounds grain; 35 pounds milk, 5 1-2 pounds grain; 45 pounds milk, 9 pounds grain.

A balanced ration for dairy cows may be calculated by consulting a table of digestible nutrients usually found in books on feeding and considering the feeds available and obtainable.

Here are a few helps in making a dairy ration, suggested by Prof. Baer:

1. After balancing the grain mixture for the average cow in the herd, mix enough for a week's supply.
2. Have at least two laxative feeds in the ration (alfalfa hay and bran are laxative feeds.)
3. One-third of the grain by weight should be of bulky character.
4. Add one pound of salt to each 100 pounds of grain.
5. Adjust the amount of grain for each cow to the amount of milk.
6. Silage may be fed at the rate of 2 1-2 to 3 1-2 pounds per 100 pounds live weight of cow.
7. Feed one pound good dry roughage for 100 pounds live weight of cow.

COLLEGE NOTES

Music at the college during the summer will be furnished by a regular college band and orchestra, according to A. L. Fentem, who is in charge of these classes.

Mr. Fentem reports that considerable interest is being shown in these activities and he expects to have a large organization for each class. He has a large number of experienced musicians from the regular school year just past and much new material has entered the school for the summer.

These organizations will furnish music for various occasions and entertainments during the summer term.

The library is inadequte for the numbers of students who wish to work there and who have an hour or two between classes. Much of the overflow from the library goes into the auditorium of the administration building.

The benches on the lawn are becoming increasingly popular now the heavy rains are apparently over. Quite a number of students are accommodated during their off hours by the benches and the lawn itself.

B. C. Klepper of Shawnee, who has been an instructor in East Central during past summers, arrived Sunday to take up his work as teacher in the high school department of mathematics for the summer.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

WAY TO LIFE:—He hath shewed the, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God.—Micah 6:8.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Respect for the dead is a distinguishing mark of civilization. Death is an unsolved mystery of nature and it must come to all. However, the human mind abhors the thought of being forgotten just as it rebels against the thought of oblivion when the soul and body are separated. It has always been a trait of the human race to honor the memory of those who fell in defense of their country or took part in such defense, even though they survive many years longer. Hence the appropriateness of setting aside one day of the busy year to meditate on the lives of those who faced death that their country might live.

In the United States Memorial Day is of special significance. It originated with a few devoted Southern women in a Mississippi town who spent a day in strewing flowers impartially over the graves of Confederate and Union soldiers, thus typifying the reunion of the nation and recognition of the fact that all were Americans. It soon became a national custom and has been observed everywhere. The Spanish War and the World War intensified this feeling of expressing and acknowledging a debt of gratitude to the nation's defenders.

There is nothing tangible that we can do for those who have departed; the flowers we place over their last resting places do not cause them to rest more peacefully, they are a pledge that we have not forgotten them.

The occasion is one calculated to impress on the living the fact that life is more than a mere struggle for existence with no thought of those who have gone on before. It is well to pause and reflect on the problem of life, here and hereafter. It is a time when we shall do well to ask ourselves what are we doing for our country. Others dared to die for it but are we doing our part towards realizing the ideals for which our heroes willingly sacrificed their lives?

One reason for the rapid progress in the United States has been the readiness of the people to use labor saving machinery. For instance, in England the inventors of steam engines andother machinery were sometimes in fear of their lives from workers who feared their jobs would be gone if the new machines were put to work. However, in America the use of machinery, although cutting out some jobs in certain lines, created more new ones in other lines than they cut out. The reaper made it possible to harvest grain with only a fractional part of the laborers needed before, but it made it possible to raise more grain and to build more mills and in the end there were more jobs than before. Old time printers fought against the use of linotypes in printing plants thinking that they would be cast adrift. However, the linotype caused such an advance in the printing industry that more printers than ever are employed today and at wages the old timers never dreamed of. So it goes all along the line. The result has been that the United States became the inventors' paradise and the country has made wonderful progress thru the inventions that have been brought forth.

Gen. Robert E. Lee in his days of dire poverty following the Civil War refused an offer of $50,000 per year for the use of his name as president of a life insurance company in New York stating that he knew nothing of the business and that his name was not for sale at any price. However, according to charges filed in the federal court at Fort Worth there is another Lee who had no such scruples. Alleging his relationship with the family of the great Southern general, he used the name of Lee to draw money from the pockets of many people for promoting a fraudulent oil scheme, according to the charges he now faces in court. The difference in the conduct of the two Lees would indicate that there is no blood relationship between the men even though they bear the same name.

There will be a real battle one day this week when ex-Senator J. W. Bailey of Texas appears before Governor Smith of New York as a representative of the wet interests to argue in favor of signing the bill repealing the state law for enforcement of prohibition, followed by W. J. Bryan who will present the dry cause. In Bailey's younger days he was a prohibitionist, but after running with big company at Washington, he changed his views. He and Bryan entered congress together in 1891, Bailey being the youngest member and Bryan the second youngest. However, they have never had much use for each other and this will be just another clash between these former leaders of the Democratic party.

Naturally no one likes to have his sanity called into question, hence former vice-President Marshall suggests that a good way to curb people who pride themselves in departing from everyday conventionalities and haughty officials would be to call them up on charges of insanity. Marshall is of the opinion that such a course would have a most salutary effect on a lot of people who need some sort of discipline at the hands of the public.

Suckers!
(Dearborn Independent)

Day after day the mail of The Dearborn Independent brings stories of frauds and fakes until it seems that almost everybody in the country who possesses a little money has been snared by some "blue sky" speculative proposition. "If there is anything that should be shown up," it is this or that or the other thing, the letters say. "Why don't you do something quick to prevent this wholesale robbing of poor people?" is a frequent question.

It would seem that if people still continue nibbling at stock schemes after all the publicity which has been given to the precarious and dangerous nature of such propositions, little more can be done to save them. In one mid-western state after the farmers' war prosperity, high-powered stock salesmen went over the territory county by county and cleaned the farmers out of hundreds of millions of dollars, leaving behind a trail of mortgage foreclosures and general wreckage from which the present generation of farmers in that state will not recover. Did not the farmers know better? Of course they did. Did not the local bankers know better? Of course they did. But the curse of wanting something for nothing, of desiring to get rich quickly, of falling easily for the methods of the stock salesman seems to be upon all classes equally. Ministers are buying stocks on installments out of their meager salaries. School teachers are doing the same. There is not a community in the United States that cannot show stacks of worthless paper, that cannot tell stories of the perfidy of men who prey upon the confidence of the people.

If people go on believing t strangers are lying awake nights to make them rich, if newspapers go on accepting full-page advertisements of stocks that no business man would invest in—what can be done about it?

The people themselves are to be blamed as well as pitied, for the whole stock proposition has an immoral angle. A share of stock is really a license to collect a part of some workingman's labor, for it is not true that "your money works for you"—money can't do that; it is another man who works for you. Until people learn these things, until they begin to scrutinize their own conduct in the matter, there is little to be done. The most effective thing to do would be to show up the whole financial system which makes these things possible.

Silver Purchase Postponed
(By the Associated Press)

WASHI9NGTON, May 29.—Postponement until June 15 of further purchase of silver under the Pittman act was suggested today by Assistant Secretary Gilbert of the treasury department at a hearing before the senate committee on gold and silver. He said the treasury probably would issue a formal announcement on the subject in the near future.

"PRINCE CHAP" NEW CHAUTAUQUA LIGHT

Once in awhile we read a book, hear a song or see a play that becomes a part of us—treasured forever.

Such a play is the 'Prince Chap,' In these days of speed and jazz a play of such character is like a song of childhood days in comparison to a cabaret orchestra.

Edward Peple has proven that a play may be written that will stir a nation and still not have a triangle in it. Forthright, clean manhood-chivalry which we believe in and seldom see are more palatable to real America.

In "The Prince Chap," Mr. Peple has given us real literature in dramatic form—interspersed with some of the finest comedy of recent years.

Both Mr. Cyril Scott on the stage and Mr. Thomas Meighan on the screen have scored their greatest successes in this play. It is the kind of play that Americans like—in other words the kind that Chautauqua fans like—and they are America.

For this reason Mr. Horner has selected 'The Prince Chap" as one of two plays this year to go over the Premier Circuit of Redpath Horner Chautauquas.

TULSA.—Class directors at Central high school expect next year's freshman class to number about 600 students, they have announced. Enrollment is now under way, being carried on at grade schools over the city to avoid a rush of registration in the days just before school opens in the fall. Six registrars are making the rounds of the grade schools, according to Merle C. Prunty, principal of the high school.

NATIONAL GUARD UNITS TO TAKE PARADE PART

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 30.—The state staff of the Oklahoma national guard, and approximately 500 troops elements of three regiments, and special organizations, will parade here today, Memorial Day, as an escort of veterans of past wars, in accordance with an order issued by Baird H. Organizations for which the guardsmen will act as escort as named in the order include the G. A. R., Confederate veterans, Spanish war veterans, the American legion, World war veterans and veterans of foreign wars.

The commanding officer of the 179th infantry, Colonel Charles Francis Barrett, was placed in charge of organizing the parade. Mayor O. A. Cargill will act as marshall of the day.

"This is a duty of honor and respect," said the order.

Organizations which will parade are:

The state staff and corps, headquarters company, 179th infantry; quartermaster department; service company, 179th infantry; companies A and D, 179th infantry; battery F, 189th field artillery; regimental headquarters, headquarters company, ambulance company 160, medical supply section, medical laboratory section and hospital company of the 120th Medical regiment.

Young Reds Fight Religion.
(By the Associated Press)

VLADIVOSTOK—On the eve of Easter the Union of Young Communists, the membership of which is limited to boys and girls under 18 years old, issued a tirade against religion in the pages of the "Red Flag."

It was declared that religion is but a worn-out and effete superstition for the enslavement of the working classes, and that "while the others are at church, we will dance and make merry."

The Young Men's Christian Association is being attacked long similar lines.

enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells! That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Blackheaded pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet! You can try everything under the sun,—you'll find only one answer, more cell-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear, pure, rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from the blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatic impurities, from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. S. has been known since 1826, as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. Memorial Day—

A day to be spent in reverent memory; a day to worship at the shrine of American sacrifice; a day to foot up the costs of America's greatness; to give honor to whom honor is due—to those whose lives have paid the price that we who now live might continue to uphold the ideals for which they died.

SMITH-COLE

Memorial Day —a Token

If Memorial day is made an occasion just for looking backward it is not a fitting tribute. May it not be a day of looking forward, of resolve to carry forward to a completer realization the ideals for which those whom this day honors laid down their lives.

Denial of Clean Slate no Damper to Clara's Claim

(By the Associated Press)

NEW ORLEANS, May 30.—Clara Phillips was informed shortly after 11 o'clock this morning that her appeal for a new trial had been denied yesterday by the Los Angeles court. She expressed no emotion and said: "That makes no difference. We will carry the case to the supreme court of California and seek a new trial. I will not fight extradition from Louisiana."

The news of the court's action was withheld from her until a few minutes before she was taken from the parish prison to the union station where she will board a train at 12:15 p. m. for San Francisco and San Quentin prison.

RAINS ENDANGER WATER IN STATE

Health Department Issues Warning Against Use of Well Water.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 29.—A warning against insanitary conditions in connection with impure water has been issued by Dr. E. A. Davenport, state health commissioner, who said that recent heavy rains have brought a threat to health in flooding sellars, wells and springs and causing heavy weed growths.

"Because of the recent excessive rainfall, cellars, wells and springs on low-lying ground are almost sure to have been overflowed," the commissioner said. "Cellars, after draining out, should be thoroughly aired, cleaned and white washed.

"Flooded wells and springs are a more serious proposition. No water for drinking or for any family use, from such sources, should be used without boiling for at least fifteen minutes. The insipid taste of boiled water, after cooling, may be gotten rid of by pouring the cooled water slowly back and forth from one container to another.

"The excessive amount of rain has also caused an unusually heavy crop of weeds, and where weeds grow in abundance there is always a damp, moldy condition which is conducive to the propagation of flies and mosquitoes. Weeds also cover accumulating filth. Destroy all weeds and filth hidden under them. This is the first step toward a practical summer clean-up.

"Particularly in small towns and rural communities is sanitation a problem in rainy weather. This is because water may be the greatest source of contamination and pollution. Numbers of surface wells are grossly polluted by surface drainings and drainage. Clear water is not necessarily pure. Oftentimes there is a direct connection between sources of pollution and the well.

"Typhoid fever, dystentary and diarrhea are contracted from drinking polluted water."

Old Dobin had his faults, but you didn't have to pour hot water on him to get him started on a cold morning.—Wall Street Journal.

Past Legion Administration Puts Firm Foundation For Activities

Mayo E. McKeown

Gilbert F. Polly

The dedication of the Memorial Convention hall, the peak of accomplishment of the Norman Howadr post, American Legion is based on the firm foundatoin of the activities of the past administration of the post.

Under the leadership of Gilbert F. Polly, commander, and Mayo McKeown, adjutant, the basis of the present success ofthe Legion was established and handed down to the present administration that the road to success would be less difficult.

The Norman Howard Post, American Legion was more or less in pioneer days during the administration of Commander Polly and Adjutant McKeown, having only a membership of 65 at the offset of the administration and growing during the year to a record membership of 300.

The past officers took charge of legion affairs after the general election January 1, 1922 and at that time legoin finances were in good shape despite the low membership record. Seeking the increase of membership, the officers started with a series of entertainments to attract the attention of stranded buddies.

Many Successful Entertainments

Many successful entertainments were launched by the American Legion during the year, in which the legion was repaid in membership, money and public interest. The "slum supper" staged by the legion, in which the town was invited out for a free feed is considered one of the most successful of the admin istration.

Relief work for jobless buddies, is considered by the officers as one of the most important phases of the successful years. Any number of ex-service men were secured jobs through the efforts of the Norman Howard post, American Legion during that year. A diploma was awarded by the national headquarters to the Local post for assisting in aiding jobless buddies secure work.

In an effort to establish a home for the legion members to play during their leisure hours, the post rented quarters and put in a gymnasium with a fight ring and other apparatus to attract many buddies to the fold.

The dministration also took an acive part in assisting Mrs. Orville Snead in Red Cross work, going out of the beaten path followed by the benevolent orders to help buddies in need.

The Legion plot in the Rosedale cemetery was secured through the efforts of the past administration. Over $100 was spent by the post in caring for the grounds, buildings, walks and planting flowers on the nine, 25-foot squares known as the Legion Memorial plot.

Memorial Hall Launched

A feature of relief work handled individually by Mayo McKeown, past adjutant, was the securing and handling of claims of ex-service men. Adjutant McKeown , who was associated with his brother Congressman Tom D. McKeown, filed and ushered any number of claim for ex-service men in the county.

The securing of the Memorial Convention hall through the support of the civic organizations of the city spelled the greatest effort of the legion during that year.

In early summer, 1922 the proposition of erecting a Memorial Convention hall as a tribute to those who served and died in the World War, was launched in a series of meetings. The Lions club proposed that the building be made a reality and upon that suggestion plans for placing the proposal to the vote of the people were established.

Prior to the date of the election, administration officers and others active in the interest of legion waged a hot campaign in favor of the passage of the measure and through the efforts of the legion, the passage of the Memorial Hall proposition was possible.

POLAND TO HAVE DIRECT RADIO COMMUNICATION

WARSAW—The Building of a radio station in Warsaw, which will be one of the most powerful in the world, has been undertaken with a view to giving Poland the opportunitw of direct communication with western countries without having to rely upon communication through other states.

The work of construction was commenced in February, 1922. and will be finished next July.

The total cost of the station amounts to almost $2,000,000.

Light breakfasts are almost as popular as heavy morning meals among many notables who recently answered a questionnaire on the subject.

ALUMINUM COINS TO BE EXCHANGE IN GERMANY

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN, May 30.—It will not be long before the jingle of metal coins will again be freely heard in Berlin shops and banks. It is estimated that there will soon be 210,000,000,000 marks in aluminum "small change" in circulation.

The enormous depreciation of the mark has made the pfennig pieces such insignificant bits that they have disappeared from virtually all cash tills. Before the war there were one and two pfennig coins in copper, five, ten and 25-pfennig pieces in nickel ano 50-pfennig coins in silver, besides the ten and 20-mark gold pieces.

The practice of minting aluminum coins orginiated during the war ,when this material was used to replace the copper coinage in the smaller denomination. Later iron was also used, and the Saxon town of Meissen, famous for its porcelain ware even resorted to the use of porcelain for this purpose.

All of the new coins now being minted are made of aluminum. Only recently a large number of 200-mark pieces were put into circulation, and plans are nearly completed for issuing 500-mark coins as well. The former are about the size of an American quarter and the latter will measure something like a United States half-dollar. The mintage of 1,000-mark coins also is being considered.

ARE THE VAMPS COMING BACK?

The person who said there was nothing new under the sun uttered words of wisdom. One season skirts are long, next they are short. Styles recur in a circle—on the screen as elsewhere. Not so long ago the little gray haired mother, whose children ran away and left her, was the popular character in the movie theatre. Last season the vogue was sheiks, but right now the Hollywood forecast point inevitably to the vampire. We all remember when she held the center of the stage before and it is good news to hear that she is with us again.

But we can't help noticing that she has changed a little during her absence. She works more quietly than of yore. The censors have subdued and placated her and she has adapted herself to circumstances. The 1922 model vampire is, however, far more convincing than the one of half a dozen seasons ago. She is not a heavy, snaky creature who swathes herself in velvets and pearls, but an infinitely more human girl. She is tall and slim and dresses in the latest modes. You would meet her dining at a fashionable hotel instead of keeping her dates in an apartment, heavy with the scent of sandal wood.

You believe that she is the most attractive being under the sun, whereas the old-fashioned vamp often failed to convince and left you wondering how sane husbands could desert their wives who had it all over the luring one in the eyes of the audience at least.

There is always a queen among vamps. Not long ago Theda Bara was the one, but right now the crown goes to Estelle Tylor. She is a supreme household terror Having completed work a few months ago in the modernized version of "A Fool There Was," B. P. Schulberg chose her for the leading part in Bertha M. Clay's old time favorite, "Thorns and Orange Blossoms."

Miss Taylor makes a charming Rosita, the Spanish prima donna who almost takes the hero away from his American fiancee.

"Thorns and Orange Blossoms" is the most lavishly produced picture of the year. It opens today at the McSwain theare.

EXPLORER FAILS IN CITY QUESTS

Arrested by English When He Attempts Enter Sacred City of Lhassa.

(By the Associated Press)

CALCUTTA—Dr. Hugh McGovern, the Irish Buddist priest who recently succeeded in penetrating the world's greatest rampart of mountains, the Himalayas, behind which lies the forbidden city of Lhassa, has just returned to Darjeeling after having been arrested by British frontier authorities for violating Tibet's sacred ground. The doctor reports that in his attempts to get into Lhassa he and his four companions suffered intense privations and exposure in the snow-clad mountains, which are 500 feet higher than the highest peaks in the United States.

After battling with snow storms day and night and being compelled more than once to retrace his steps, McGovern at Hangu was confronted with a strike of his servants, who refused to go further. He had to beat them into submission before they would resume the journey. He kept his ultimate destination secret from his companions, fearing they would desert him if they knew the distance and the hardships. On the desolate mountain pass of Karula the Irish prelate revealed his objective. Only under compusion did his companions continue the journey with him.

To avoid detection by the fanatical Tibetans, Dr. McGovern dyed his hair and painted his whole body so as to look like a native. Thus disguised and attired in the dress of a peasant, he played the role of coolie and cook. After many weeks of trying experiences and reverses he finally reached Lhassa, only to be apprehended by the Tibetans, who ordered his immediate deportation. He is now with friends in Darjeeling and will soon leave for England.

An American who is planning to enter Tibet is Captain Merl La Voy of Seattle, Washington. Armed with credentials from the American State department and permits from the Chinese government, La Voy with a number of American scientists and explorers will leave India late in the fall and proceed directly for Lhassa.

KING SAVED PENNIES TO RE-FIT HIS YACHT

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—King George's 30-year-old racing yacht, the Britannia, which he could not afford to replace with a more modern cutter, has just come off the ways for another season of racing. She has been re-coppered, overhauled, and equipped with new running gear.

King George has never hesitated to say that he could not afford to build another big yacht, and last year he even went so far as to tell yachting enthusiasts that the Britannia would have to remain idle until he had saved up enough money to fit her out with new equipment.

He has decided to race the old craft this year chiefly for the purpose of reviving the sport, and for the benefit of spectators at regattas, as the Britannia under full sail, in a good breeze is said to be a sight worth seeing.

Yachtsmen here say the days of racing big expensive vessels have passed forever. It has become such a costly sport, they say, that kings are no longer able to afford it, and even syndicates of millionaire sportsmen hestitate to under take the huge outlay necessary.

EPISCOPAL LAYMEN TO MEET IN CHICAGO

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, May 28.—Arrangements are already in full swing for the reception here during September of the largest gathering of laymen of the Episcopal church to be held this year, when the fortieth anniversary of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew is celebrated.

Not only will every Episcopal parish in the United States be represented by men and boys, but almost every parish of this denomination in England, Scotland, Ireland, Australia, Canada, New Zealand and the West Indies also will send delegates and members. The gathering is known as the International Convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew.

The organization of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew was inspired by the late James L. Houghteling of this city in 1883 and from a very meager beginning it has spread to be one of the largest organizations for men and boys in religious work in the world.

"Since its birth it has been and always will be the heart of a movement to spiritually vitalize the man and boy power of the church" said Courtenay Barber, of this city, chairman of the convention committee. The national body has held 37 conferences, none of which is restricted to members of the Brotherhood, but to all church men and boys.

Memorial Day--

This day the Nation bows in reverence to its honored dead. We turn again with dimmed eyes, the pages of the book of memory to glimpse therein a vision of forms that now are stilled.

The memories are and ever will be indelible. The triumph of the ideals for which they died is a monument everlasting to their heroic sacrifice.

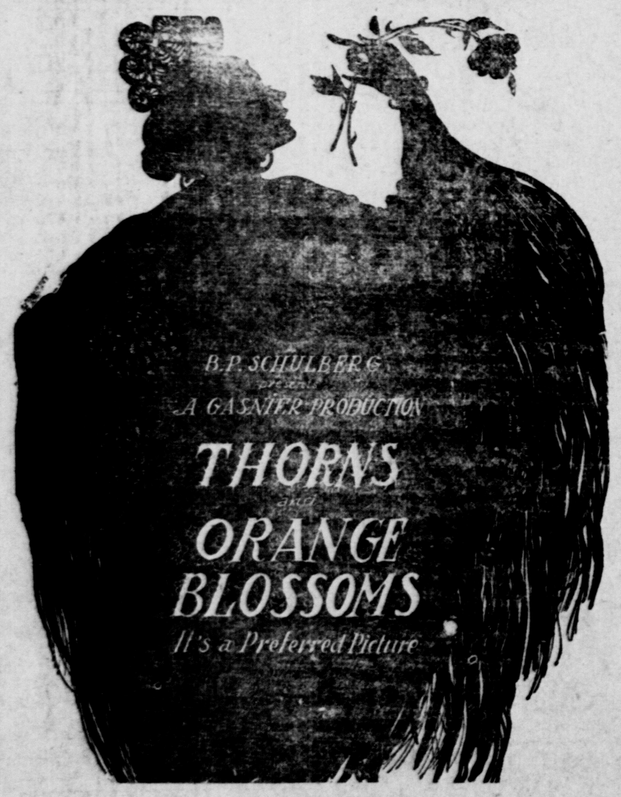

So let us pause in the busy strife to mingle our thoughts with the cherished memories of loved ones. Let us again catch the gleam of the glory for which they died. Let us again renew our pledge to our nation that we love. Let us realize that there was no selfish motive in that sacrifice; that we who now enjoy the blessings of peace owe a debt of gratitude which we can never pay.
